Editorial.....

The Center for Protection of Democratic Rights and Secularism (CPDRS) issued a nationwide call to observe International Human Rights Day (IHRD) on December 10th—the day the Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR) was adopted in 1948.

As we observe the continuous violation of human rights across the country, marked by daily reports of violence, the crushing of dissent and the systematic erosion of constitutional guarantees, the need for action has never been more urgent than now. As part of this endeavor, the All India Committee of CPDRS had called upon all sections of the people to come forward and raise their voices for the protection of human rights, democratic values, and the secular fabric of our nation.

Eroding Human Rights: India in Crisis

The foundational premise of the Indian Constitution - justice, liberty, and equality are increasingly under threat, creating an atmosphere of fear and repression across the nation.

As for example, the latest push for a Special Intensive Revision(SIR) of Voters Lists has caused widespread anxiety across the nation. Serious concerns have been raised about snatching away the right to citizenship, apart from the arbitrary deletion of a large number of voters, particularly from vulnerable and minority groups. This bureaucratic overreach threatens to disenfranchise legitimate citizens, effectively undermining the democratic right to vote.

The democratic fabric is fraying under the weight of draconian laws and the abuse of state power. Laws like the Unlawful Activities Prevention Act (UAPA) and the National Security Act (NSA) are being weaponized to silence dissent. Citizens, journalists, and intellectuals who dare to criticize the government are frequently booked, intimidated or jailed, demonstrating a calculated effort to suppress the fundamental right to freedom of speech and expression.

Even otherwise, the National Human Rights Commission recorded a staggering 147 deaths in police custody and 1,882 deaths in judicial custody in just the first nine months of 2022, underscoring the rampant issue of custodial violence. Shockingly, 77% of India's 5.5 lakh prison inmates who are granted bail continue to languish in jail.

The situation is further exacerbated by the growing use of investigative agencies to target political opponents and activists. The passage of the new criminal laws—the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita (BNS), Bharatiya Nagarika Suraksha Sanhita (BNSS), and Bharathiya Sakshya Adhiniyam and some of the provisions contained in it, is viewed by legal experts as a move to reintroduce police raj, posing a grave threat to free expression.

Equally alarming is the systematic damage being inflicted upon India's secular fabric. Communal tensions, often fueled by vested interests, have resulted in a disturbing rise in targeted violence. Between 2017 and 2021, India recorded 2,908 incidents of communal violence, in which minority communities, particularly Muslims and Dalits, were brutally targeted. This climate of communal and caste division undermines the constitutional guarantee of a secular state and diverts attention from the real issues like poverty, corruption, unemployment etc which have reached unbearable level.

The institutions meant to protect these rights- Parliament, National human Rights Commission and ultimately the judiciary, have largely been rendered ineffective. An alarming backlog of over five crore pending cases, speaks volumes of judicial inefficiency leading to denial of justice itself!

Responding to the call of the CPDRS to protect human rights, numerous state units of CPDRS across the country successfully organized various types of programs like Seminars, Dharnas, Protests, submission of memorandums, Book exhibitions and sales, etc., to commemorate IHRD on December 10th. The mobilization of law students, lawyers, like-minded intellectuals, and democratic-minded people has given fresh hope for a stronger and more protracted movement to save society from this deterioration.

Dear Friends,

For years, the CENTRE FOR PROTECTION OF DEMOCRATIC RIGHTS & SECULARISM (CPDRS) has stood at the forefront of the struggle for a JUST AND INCLUSIVE SOCIETY, built on the principles of DEMOCRACY, SECULARISM, and the CAUSE OF HUMAN RIGHTS.

We are proud to launch the THE NEWSLETTER as the first online bulletin of CPDRS—our new digital home. We are committed to providing dispassionate, objective analysis in pursuit of our CORE MISSION.

In today's times where casteism, communalism, and other divisive tendencies are vitiating the social atmosphere—and where the law is often SKEWED TOWARD THE POWERS THAT BE rather than the common citizen—we believe it is MORE IMPORTANT THAN EVER to provide a platform for PROPAGATING TRUTH and CREATING AWARENESS. Our goal is to voice the legitimate concerns of marginalized and affected people to build a BETTER SOCIETY.

Our mission is not only to inform, but to INSPIRE ACTION guided by proper knowledge so as to ACT CORRECTLY to ensure a BETTER TOMORROW for every citizen.

The ability to EXPRESS ONE'S MIND and SEEK JUSTICE is fundamental to any healthy society. Being WELL INFORMED is the larger part of fighting for human rights. The CPDRS attempts to play a crucial role in raising a voice against HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSE and in SAFEGUARDING SECULARISM in our country.

JOIN US, LEND YOUR SUPPORT, AND STRENGTHEN THIS MOVEMENT FOR JUSTICE!

"Scrap the S.I.R.: End Electoral Manipulation and Defend Democratic Rights"

Special intensive revision (SIR) is the new weapon in the hands of the BJP led central government to threaten the common people particularly the minorities and other vulnerable sections of the people.

Expected to be a neutral constitutional body, the ECI is now widely perceived as having become an appendage of the ruling dispensation.

Following its completion in Bihar, the SIR is being implemented across 9 states and 3 Union Territories, covering nearly 51 crore voters. Citizens are required to submit fresh enumeration forms along with prescribed documents in December to retain their names in the draft electoral rolls—failure of which effectively threatens their right to vote and, by implication, their recognition as Indian citizens. The scale and speed of exercise have imposed enormous pressure on BLOs, with reports of unmanageable workloads, protests, and even suicides, exposing serious administrative unpreparedness.

The burden of proof is increasingly being shifted onto citizens to repeatedly establish their eligibility to vote—an inversion of democratic logic that treats voters as suspects rather than rights-bearing citizens. Votes are being removed—not because they were ineligible, but because they could not meet procedural requirements in time. Reports show that most deletions occurred under dubious or legally invalid grounds. Grievance redressal mechanisms remain largely inaccessible to vulnerable groups.

This approach represents a departure from constitutional morality, which historically presumed citizenship and inclusion for all adult residents. Democracy requires fraternity—where inclusion is the norm and exclusion the exception.

What makes this exercise especially dangerous is its convergence with communal politics and the increasing capture of supposedly independent institutions. Reports from the ground suggest that marginalized communities, migrant workers, minorities, and the urban poor are disproportionately affected by deletions. Such selective disenfranchisement cannot be dismissed as coincidence. It reflects a political strategy where electoral rolls are manipulated to shape outcomes in favor of the ruling establishment, rather than reflecting the genuine will of the people.

The SIR appears to be a disguised attempt to revive NRC-like exclusions while perpetuating the narrative of Muslim infiltration to consolidate the Hindu vote. The government's claim that illegal migrants have obtained Aadhaar, ration cards, and voter IDs implies massive administrative collusion, since such fraud is impossible without state complicity. Yet no investigation or accountability has followed.

Claims of widespread infiltration also contradict the reality of BSF-guarded borders and collapse further considering the government's own admission in 2019 that it had no list of illegal Bangladeshi migrants. Exaggerated assertions about infiltrators and Rohingyas thus appear politically motivated and communally driven rather than based on evidence.

The question before the country is no longer limited to administrative efficiency. It is about whether the right to vote will remain a guaranteed constitutional right or be reduced to a privilege granted selectively in favour of the ruling dispensation. The choice now is stark—either people remain passive spectators to this systematic disenfranchisement, or they unite to resist the steady erosion of democratic rights carried out in the name of reform. "The sooner they choose the latter, the better it will be for the country."

Human Right Day observed in Pondichery

Report of Nationwide Observation of International Human Rights Day

Andhra Pradesh: The first State Convention of the Poura Chaitanya Vedika (PCV) was held at the Officers Club Hall in Tirupati, Andhra Pradesh, with more than 150 people from various walks of life participating enthusiastically.

The program was presided over by Vaka Prasad, the Tirupati District President of the Poura Chaitanya Vedika, who explained the origin of International Human Rights Day. The welcome address was delivered by Raghav, the Honorary President of the Poura Chaitanya Vedika, Tirupati District.

A total of three resolutions were unanimously adopted. The resolution on the withdrawal of the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) was presented by Professor Kola Vennu Chand, Visakhapatnam District President of the Poura Chaitanya Vedika, and the resolution on scrapping the controversial labor laws was presented by Omkar, Kurnool President. The third resolution, opposing the Sanchar Saathi app, was presented by A.N. Parameswara Rao, Tirupati District Secretary.

Professor Kunche Sridhar, All India General Secretary of CPDRS, and Parakala Prabhakar, a well-known political analyst, were the dignitaries who graced the occasion. People from different districts participated in the meeting, which concluded with a determination to intensify the movement for upholding human rights. A follow-up meeting of Poura Chaitanya Vedika representatives was held later in the afternoon.

The 1st State Convention of the Poura Chaitanya Vedika (PCV) was successfully held on 10th December 2025 at the Town Club Hall in Tirupati in which more than 300 people attended.

Haryana: The Centre for Protection of Democratic Rights and Secularism (CPDRS), Haryana unit, successfully organized several activities on December 10th to commemorate International Human Rights Day (IHRD) and raise awareness about the threats to democratic rights and secularism.

A total of 4,000 handbills were published and distributed across various working districts of Haryana. Earlier, an online meeting was convened which was well-attended by many concerned citizens. The session was conducted by Ishwar Singh Rathi and concluded by Rajender Singh, Advocate.

Memorandums addressing the serious concerns regarding the Special Intensive Revision of Voters Lists (SIR) were submitted through the Deputy Commissioners / District Election Officers in Sonipat, Mohindergarh, Jhajjar, Rewari, Hisar, and Bhiwani districts.

Sonipat : The Centre for Protection of Democratic Rights and Secularism (CPDRS), Sonipat District Committee, staged a protest at the District Headquarters today on the occasion of International Human Rights Day.

The protest was addressed by Ishwar Singh Rathi (Convener, CPDRS Haryana), Rustam Ali, Advocate Kapil Dev, Advocate Brahm Singh Dahiya, Shraddhanand Solanki, and others. Well-known dignitaries, farmers, laborers, and intellectuals from Sonipat district participated in the protest. The proceedings of the protest were conducted by Advocate Surender Singh, District Secretary of CPDRS, Sonipat.

Karnataka: Responding to the call of the All India Committee of the Centre for Protection of Democratic Rights and Secularism (CPDRS), the Bangalore Unit of CPDRS organized several preparatory programs in various law colleges across the city. These programs included seminars, round table discussions, and panel discussions, accompanied by question-and-answer sessions, on topics such as democracy, secularism, and the history and present reality concerning Human Rights.These events generated considerable enthusiasm among the students and the faculty and served to mobilize students for the main International Human Rights Day event, which was held at Freedom Park on December 10, 2025. The college managements happily agreed to send the students along with their faculty members. A total of 11 law colleges participated.Mr. Sriram, the State Convenor; Advocate Shri

More then 200 law students, faculty and human rights supporters from 11 law colleges attended the Programme on 10th December 2025 at Freedom Park, Bangalore

Surendra Babu, the Chief Guest; and N. Ravi, a State Organizer of CPDRS, addressed the gathering. Additionally, CPDRS organizers Somshekar gauda, TVS Raju, four faculty members, and a few students also addressed the audience. The event concluded with an oath to uphold human rights and secularism, which was extensively covered by the press.Other districts of the state, including Bellary, Shimoga, Dharwad, and Gulbarga, focused on establishing important connections among law students, advocates, and intellectuals and undertook a campaign as preparation for the main event.This Human Rights Day program has created a huge opportunity in terms of developing a strong relationship with college authorities, students, and faculty members. The task ahead of us is to consolidate these gains to further expand the reach of CPDRS.

Guna, Madhya Pradesh: A discussion was organized today to mark International Human Rights Day. The event was organized by the CPDRS (Centre for Protection of Democratic Rights and Secularism).

During the event, Advocate Pushpraj stated that while human rights were formally adopted in our country in 1948, their history is considered to date back to around 1215.

Sharing his views, Advocate Mohar Singh said that violations of our fundamental rights, the denial of freedom of speech, and environmental degradation all fall under the purview of human rights. Advocate Ramesh Sando stated that when human rights are violated, the public must raise their voice, as demanding rights is also a duty.

Discussion was organized in Guna, Madhya Pradesh on the occasion of International Human Rights Day

In the meeting, Lokesh Sharma remarked that when people struggle for human rights, ruling powers sometimes grant a few rights to placate the movement, acting as a "safety valve," while withholding full rights.

Advocate Bhanu Priya offered the vote of thanks. Many committee members attended the meeting, including Advocate Kamlesh Lodha, Advocate Kamal Karan Ahirwar, Ghanshyam, and Aryan Sando. Everyone expressed concern over ongoing human rights violations and called for a stronger collective voice in their defense.

Ahmedabad, Gujarat: The Centre for Protection of Democratic Rights and Secularism (CPDRS), Gujarat, along with other fraternal organizations, organized a Public Meeting in Ahmedabad. The meeting featured songs, drama, and deliberations.Dr. Jharnaben Pathak, Convenor of CPDRS Gujarat, was one of the speakers. other pertinent topics.In the end, Shri Prakashbhai N. Shah did the summing up. The meeting concluded with the inspirational song, "We Shall Overcome...," and a round of slogans.

Tripura: On December 10, 2025, CPDRS Tripura state observed International Human Rights Day as a protest day. This was the first effort made to hold a public program.

Being inspired by the All India Convention organized in New Delhi several months back and following the directions of the All India Committee and in the background of the growing resentment of the people against human rights violation, we took up the initiative and organized a demonstration.

The issue was to fight SIR and to save Democracy. Several people participated in the protest, calling upon the people of Tripura to unite and build up a mighty people's movement and strengthen CPDRS.

West Bengal: The Centre for Protection of Democratic Rights and Secularism (CPDRS), West Bengal, observed International Human Rights Day on December 10th with extensive outreach efforts. The organization held meetings and campaigns in eight districts—Kolkata, South 24 Parganas, Hooghly, Murshidabad, Coochbehar, West Midnapore, East Midnapore, and Bankura—to reaffirm its dedication to democracy, secularism, and civil liberties, and to commemorate the Universal Declaration of Human Rights.Complementing these events, a CPDRS book stall at a South Kolkata book fair sold publications from the West Bengal State Committee while actively promoting public awareness regarding human rights.Overall, these programs helped to reach out to new areas and consolidate the local-level organization across the state. It has also opened up new possibilities for development of the organization.

"The right to vote is not a right given by the government; it is a right enshrined in the Constitution

- Dr. S.Y. Quraishi

Former Chief Election Commissioner Dr. S.Y. Quraishi while delivering the main speech during CPDRS organised Webinar said few months ago said:

"The right to vote is not a right given by the government; it is a right enshrined in the Constitution. Therefore, the government cannot withdraw that right from citizens based upon flimsy clerical procedures."It is not the responsibility of the EC to determine citizenship—that falls to the Home Ministry. The EC's role is to operate on the premise that all listed individuals are deemed to be citizens with a constitutional right to vote. While noting that he has no objection to a Special Intensive Revision, Quraishi said : Such a process should be given adequate time and not done in a hurry. He also said that a "significant harassment will be faced by ordinary citizens, particularly migrant workers, who are required to register with Block Level Officers". Quraishi also expressed skepticism about the press reports that 98.7% of voters had already submitted their forms, suggesting that many forms may have been filled out by officials themselves. He warned by saying that "this process would lead to a potential crisis, with a large number of voters would become disenfranchised for flimsy technical reasons, such as a lack of supporting documents. Expressing hope that the EC would rectify the mistake he concluded his speech thanking the organizers.

The EC cannot decide citizenship; it has no role in determining citizenship

-Mr. Prashant Bhushan

Mr. Prashant Bhushan during his speech in a Webinar organised by CPDRS a few months ago referred to the controversial methods and lack of transparency surrounding the Election Commission's S.I.R. process in Bihar said :

"When the draft electoral roll was published (in Bihar) a staggering 65 lakh names were found to have been deleted. While the EC cited reasons like death or migration, subsequent scrutiny revealed that many individuals marked as deceased were found to be alive and those marked as migrated were actually migrant workers who had not permanently relocated."

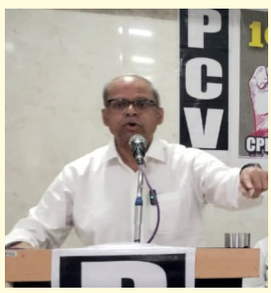
"During Assam's intensive revision, the Election Commission (EC) issued a notification to the electoral officers that they are not authorized to verify citizenship. The EC cannot decide citizenship; it has no role in determining citizenship. But now their intention is to remove lakhs of genuine voters and add lakhs of fake voters to the electoral list in the name of SIR. Bihar is a pilot project for them, and they will do it everywhere in the country."

Further he said "EC appeared to have ignored its own manual, which mandates cross-verification in booths where deletions exceed two percent. Deletions surpassed this threshold in 93% of Bihar's booths, yet the mandated verification was not carried out. These actions, along with the fact that the names which were deleted from the roll were not found even in the official list of deleted names raises a suspicion of a biased effort to manipulate the electoral roll by the EC."

Voter Deletion is a Bloodless Political Genocide!

- Dr. Parakala Prabhakar

On the occasion of International Human Rights Day the first State Convention of the Poura Chaitanya Vedika (PCV) was held at the Town Club Hall in Tirupati under the auspices of Andhra Pradesh state unit of CPDRS in which Dr Parakala Prabhakar delivered Key note address and Professor Kunche addressed as the Main SpeakerHere is an abridged version of Dr. Parakala Prabhakar's speech;



"People who had not even an iota of role in the freedom struggle are now posing themselves off as patriots...What could be more bizarre than this?"

"Manipur has been burning for two years. Hundreds of people have lost their lives....Put your hand on your heart and tell me! Are we even paying any attention?" "The dollar rate in banks has reached 90 rupees. The price of petrol and gas has increased. No matter how much they raise it, we are using it without a murmur." With so many issues, instead of talking about them, our Parliament discussed Vande Mataram for ten hours!

"India was the first country that decided that everyone residing in this country is a citizen of this country. India embraced everyone without discrimination based on skin color, religion, culture, or language... "Government employees went door-to-door, registered voters' names"

"The present SIR is such that in one house, there are 500 voters. Many citizens have been removed from the voter list. Isn't that like killing citizens? Isn't this a bloodless political genocide? Isn't it suddenly striking down democracy? Isn't it slowly and steadily removing the Constitution and democracy?"..

"Citizens should demand that we will go to the polls only if the right to vote remains as it was before"

What is the connection between Citizenship and the Election Commission?

- Professor Kunche Sridhar

Addressing the State conference organised by the Andhra Pradesh committee of CPDRS at Tirupathi, the National General Secretary of the Centre for Protection of Democratic Rights and Secularism (CPDRS) questioned, "The Election Commission claims they established the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) to weed out infiltrators, but who gave them the authority to decide who is a citizen and who is not?"

He further said: 65 lakh names were removed from the Bihar voter list, and when the Supreme Court questioned this, the list of removals was reduced to 50 lakh. If 50 lakh people were removed from the voter list, shouldn't they state the reason for the removal?

The S.I.R. was absolutely unnecessary. The EC can conduct a Summary Revision of electoral rolls where the Booth Level Officer should go door-to-door to register new voters and remove the names of the deceased. If there is any complaint that someone is an illegal immigrant then the matter should be referred to the Foreign Tribunal.

He further commented that "SIR was established to remove names of Muslims, minorities, Dalits and opponents. of the ruling dispensation from the voter list.

BJP is engaging in 'vote theft' by deleting voters under the pretext of 'migrants.' He said "SIR is paving the way for fascism."

Delhi: Observance of the 77th Anniversary of the UDHR

The Delhi Chapter of the CPDRS organized a seminar at Bangiya Samsad, Karol Bagh, New Delhi, on Sunday, December 14, 2025, to observe the 77th anniversary of the adoption of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR) in 1948.

Mr. Satish Panwar introduced the subject, and Prof. Dibyendu Maiti of the Delhi School of Economics presided over the event. The seminar was attended by several Supreme Court, Delhi High Court, and Delhi District Court lawyers, as well as teachers, students, and members of civil society. Notable attendees included Sh. Ashraf Mansoori (Supreme Court), Sh. A.K. Kaushik (Delhi High Court), Adv. Sh. Atikur Rahman, Adv. Sh. KS Ranot, and Adv. Sh. R.S. Kansotia of the Tis Hazari Courts.

The speakers provided a vivid description of the weaponization of national financial and investigative agencies against civil society, human rights activists, journalists, and critics.

They also referred to the demolition of properties belonging to religious minorities as a form of extra-judicial punishment. Regarding the repeal of colonial-era criminal and penal laws, they stated that the new laws contain provisions defining dissent or criticism as sedition, while granting overriding powers to the police and executive. They argued this leads to the repression of peaceful protesters and systematic discrimination against religious minorities. All of them spoke on the need to raise voice against these attacks.

In his concluding speech, Prof. Dibyendu Maiti referred to the severe air pollution engulfing Delhi, which is currently categorized as the most polluted city in the world. He appealed to the participants to develop and strengthen democratic and secular people's movements nationwide to defeat the conspiracies of vested interests and political parties.

Kerala Observes Human Rights Day

The Civil Rights Protection Pledge Conference was jointly organized on 22nd December 2025 in Calicut by the Kerala State People's Resistance Platform and the Centre for Protection of Democratic Rights and Secularism (CPDRS).

Parakala Prabhakar, a renowned political analyst, delivered the inaugural address, while Professor Kunche Sridhar, All India General Secretary of CPDRS, spoke as a guest speaker. The conference was presided over by Prof. M. P. Mathai, State President of the Kerala State People's Resistance Committee.

Several prominent figures addressed the meeting, including Dr. Azad, Prof. K. Sreedhar (All India Secretary, CPDRS), Dr. Khadeeja Mumtaz, Dr. D. Surendranath, N. Subrahmanyan, N. V. Balakrishnan, S. Rajeevan, Shaila K. John, and P. K. Thomas (District Secretary of the People's Resistance Committee).

The Civil Rights Protection Pledge was administered by T. Balakrishnan, District President of the Kerala State People's Resistance Committee. Earlier, M. Shajarkhan, State Secretary of the People's Resistance Committee, delivered the welcome address, and Prof. Francis Kalathunkal, State Convener of CPDRS, proposed the vote of thanks.

The conference concluded with a firm determination to protest against the move to deny citizenship rights under the guise of the "intensive revision of electoral rolls." More than 150 people from various walks of life participated enthusiastically.

Parakaka prabhakar addressing the "Civil Rights Protection Pledge Conference" jointly organised by the Kerala State People's Resistance Platform and CPDRS on 21st December 2025

As of late December 2025, the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) exercise conducted by the Election Commission of India (ECI) has led to the deletion of over 4.35 crore (43.5 million) names from draft electoral rolls across various states.

Latest info from Uttar Pradesh says that 2.89 crore names out of the total 15.44 crore will be deleted from the draft electoral rolls. Out of this 2.89 crore voters (19% of total voters) 1.26 crore have migrated, 46 lakh are deceased, 23.70 lakh are duplicates, 83.73 lakh are absent and 9.57 lakh are from other categories.

Voter deletions threaten democracy: Parakala Prabhakar

HANS NEWS SERVICE
TIRUPATI

POLITICAL analyst Dr Parakala Prabhakar said that removing citizens from the voters' list is like committing "a political massacre without bloodshed."

He spoke at the first state conference of the Citizens' Awareness Forum held in Tirupati on Wednesday on the occa-sion of Interna-tional Human Rights Day.

Prabhakar said that deleting names from the voters' list weakens democ-ra-cy and slowly removes constitutional safeguards.

He warned that if people do not stand up to protect democracy and the Con-stitution now, the future will be unsafe for everyone.

He questioned how [illegible] had no role in [illegible] now claim to be nationalists. He also expressed concern that the violence in Manipur for the past two years has not received enough publi[illegible] tention.

हिसार, 11 दिसम्बर : अंतर्राष्ट्रीय मानव अधिकार दिवस के मौके पर सेंटर फॉर प्रोटेक्शन आफ डेमोक्रेटिक राइट्स एंड सेक्युलरिज्म (सीपीडीआरएस) ने चुनाव आयोग द्वारा मतदाता सूची का विशेष गहन पुनरीक्षण (एस आई आर) पर रोक लगाने की मांग को लेकर उपायुक्त हिसार के माध्यम से मुख्य चुनाव आयुक्त हरियाणा को ज्ञापन भेजा गया। जिला उपायुक्त की अनुपस्थिति में डी डी पी ओ हिसार को ज्ञापन सौंपा गया।

पहले हुई एस आई आर से संबंधित सभी आंकड़े नागरिकता के आधार पर हटाए गए मतदाताओं के विवरण सहित प्रकाशित किए जाएं। ज्ञापन में कहा गया है कि एस आई आर की वैधता के खिलाफ माननीय सुप्रीम कोर्ट में जनहित याचिका लंबित रहते हुए चुनाव आयोग द्वारा की जा रही जल्दबाजी न केवल सुप्रीम कोर्ट की अवमानना का जोखिम उठाती है, बल्कि इसकी न्याय संगतता पर भी सवाल उठाती है। अनुच्छेद 324 और 326 वयस्क मताधिकार को अनिवार्य करते हैं, यह आयोग को नागरिकता पर निर्णय लेने की शक्ति प्रदान नहीं करते। आरपी अधिनियम की धारा 22 के अनुसार बिना किसी शिकायत व उचित प्रक्रिया का पालन किए बगैर मतदाता सूची से स्वतःनाम हटाने पर रोक लगाती है लेकिन एसआईआर इस वैधानिक सुरक्षा का उलंघन करती है। विचारणीय विषय यह भी है कि राशन कार्ड, आधार कार्ड, मतदाता सूची जिस के आधार पर चुनी हुई राज्य व केंद्र की सरकार शासन चला रहीं हैं, उसको भी वेलिड डॉक्यूमेंट नहीं माना जा रहा। प्रतिनिधिमंडल में डॉक्टर खुशी राम, राजकुमार, मेहर सिंह बांगड़, राजिंदर, कश्मीरी लाल सभरवाल, जगदीश चंद्र, दलबीर श्योराण आदि उपस्थित रहे।
